Set stage for defeat in 2004

Incompetent. Dishonest. Arrogant. It's hard to find any good words to say about the Bush administration and its policies.

Just watching the events of the past year unfold — a growing nightmare in Iraq with an ill-advised invasion and occupation and a fiscal train wreck with the federal budget — it's hard to believe that anyone other than the very wealthy support this administration.

As an independent voter in the last two presidential elections, I intend to vote for anyone the Democrats nominate to defeat President Bush in 2004. I know he's counting on his planned $200 million privately raised corporate funds to overcome his record, but who knows? Maybe, just maybe, the American public will wake up and take their government back from Vice President Dick Cheney's corporate pals.
